NOTE: Make sure that you use the latest revision of each associated publication.

B. Embodiment

Do this Alert Service Bulletin at the next available opportunity, for instance during:

- night stop of the aircraft
- routine maintenance of the aircraft
- stock checks at warehouse locations
- installation to aircraft (onboard inspection)

C. Reason

Type 102 Mk 2BA, Type 102 Mk 3 and Type 102 Mk 4 lifejackets are designed for use by an adult or child. Type 105 Mk 1 lifejackets are designed for use by an infant. Each is packed in a clear PVC valise, which is marked ADULT/CHILD, CREW or INFANT.

Due to differences in parameters such as neck aperture and buoyancy, an infant lifejacket cannot be used by an adult or child; likewise an adult/child lifejacket cannot be used by an infant.

Survitec has found that some lifejackets were packed in the wrong valise. This could cause incorrect lifejackets to be provided for passengers onboard an aircraft.

D. Description

To make sure that each lifejacket is packed in the correct valise, it is necessary to inspect each lifejacket.

This Alert Service Bulletin tells service stations to:

- make sure that the label on the valise matches the description on the log card before returning it to service
- return the lifejacket to Survitec if the label on the valise does not agree with the description on the log card, and order a replacement

E. Compliance

This Alert Service Bulletin is mandatory.

F. Manpower

It is estimated that this Alert Service Bulletin requires one minute per lifejacket to complete.

G. Material

- (1) Necessary equipment and tools
  - Indelible black marker pen
- (2) Necessary parts
  - None

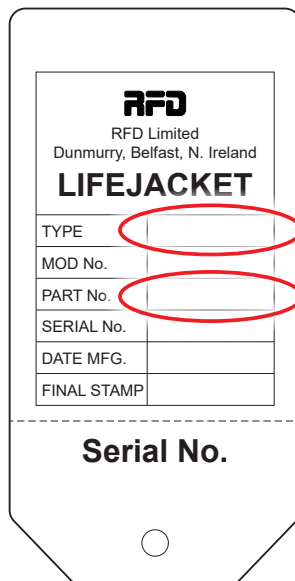

2. Accomplishment instructions

NOTE: On an RFID-enabled aircraft, you can use RFID to locate the lifejacket.

NOTE: In the steps that follow do not unpack the lifejacket.

A. Do a check on the log card. In the TYPE field (Figure 2):

- It is an adult/child lifejacket if the lifejacket is yellow and the log card says
  - 102 Mk 3
  - 102 Mk 2BA
- It is an infant lifejacket if the lifejacket is yellow and the log card says
  - 105 Mk 1
- It is a crew lifejacket if the lifejacket is orange and the log card says
  - 102 Mk 4
  - 102 Mk 2BA

FIGURE 2
TYPE and PART No. fields on lifejacket's log card

B. Do a check on the label on the valise (Figure 3):

- an adult/child lifejacket must have a screenprint or self-adhesive label which says ADULT/CHILD
- an infant lifejacket must have a screenprint or self-adhesive label which says INFANT
- a crew lifejacket must have a screenprint or self-adhesive label which says CREW

- C. Record the information that follows on Table 1:
- The aircraft's registration/MSN
  - The date on which the Alert Service Bulletin was applied to that aircraft
- D. If the label on the valise agrees with the TYPE on the log card, the lifejacket is serviceable:
- (1) Use an indelible black marker pen to write "SB 25-207-A VER.3" on the front face of the valise. Refer to Figure 4.
  - (2) Return the lifejacket to service.
- E. If the label on the valise does not agree with the TYPE on the log card, the lifejacket is unserviceable.
- (1) Record the unserviceable lifejacket's Type and Serial Number in Table 1.
  - (2) Replace the unserviceable lifejacket with a serviceable lifejacket.
  - (3) Send the lifejacket to Survitec. Refer to 5. Reporting action
- F. Send completed copies of Table 1 to Survitec by email for Alert Service Bulletin compliance record. Refer to 5. Reporting action
